

“The first and great commandment is:
Don’t let them scare you.”

Elmer Davis, reporter

Scenarios

1. An instructor agrees to contact a student-inmate's mother to let her know how her son is doing in class.

Scenarios

2. An instructor hands out ink pens as an incentive for good attendance or as prizes for educational games.

Scenarios

3. An instructor partners with an inmate or a class to start an online business as part of a consumer math lesson.

Scenarios

4. An inmate draws a portrait of an instructor's daughter based on a photograph provided by the instructor.

Scenarios

5. An instructor accepts a personalized Christmas card created by an inmate.

Scenarios

6. As a math exercise, an instructor has the class fill out his federal income tax forms.

Richard Tuttell

richardt@mcdowelltech.edu